NEW QUESTION: 1

You've written a MapReduce job that will process 500 million input records and generated 500 million key-value pairs. The data is not uniformly distributed. Your MapReduce job will create a significant amount of intermediate data that it needs to transfer between mappers and reduces which is a potential bottleneck. A custom implementation of which interface is most likely to reduce the amount of intermediate data transferred across the network?

- A. Writable
- B. InputFormat
- C. OutputFormat
- D. Combiner
- E. WritableComparable
- F. Partitioner

Answer: D

Explanation:

Combiners are used to increase the efficiency of a MapReduce program. They are used to aggregate intermediate map output locally on individual mapper outputs. Combiners can help you reduce the amount of data that needs to be transferred across to the reducers. You can use your reducer code as a combiner if the operation performed is commutative and associative.

NEW QUESTION: 3

Refer to exhibit:

Which two destination addresses will be used by Host A to send data to Host C? (Choose two.)

- A. the MAC address of Host C
- B. the IP address of Switch 1
- C. the MAC address of Switch 1
- D. the MAC address of the router's E0 interface
- E. the IP address of the router's E0 interface
- F. the IP address of Host C

Answer: D,F

Explanation:

Explanation

While transferring data through many different networks, the source and destination IP addresses are not changed. Only the source and destination MAC addresses are changed. So in this case Host A will use the IP address of Host C and the MAC address of E0 interface to send data. When the router receives this data, it replaces the source MAC address with its own E1 interface's MAC address and replaces the destination MAC address with Host C's MAC address before sending to Host C.
