NEW QUESTION: 2

You work for a finance company.

You need to design a business network analysis solution that meets the following requirements:

- * Analyzes the flow of transactions between the Azure environments of the company's various partner

- * organizations

- * Supports Gremlin (graph) queries

A. Azure Cosmos DB

B. Azure Synapse

C. Azure Data Lake Storage Gen2

D. Azure Analysis Services

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

Gremlin is one of the most popular query languages for exploring and analyzing data modeled as property graphs. There are many graph-database vendors out there that support Gremlin as their query language, in particular Azure Cosmos DB which is one of the world's first self-managed, geo-distributed, multi-master capable graph databases.

Azure Synapse Link for Azure Cosmos DB is a cloud native hybrid transactional and analytical processing (HTAP) capability that enables you to run near real-time analytics over operational data. Synapse Link creates a tight seamless integration between Azure Cosmos DB and Azure Synapse Analytics.

NEW QUESTION: 3

A software development company has hired a programmer to develop a plug-in module to an existing proprietary application. After completing the module, the developer needs to test the entire application to ensure that the module did not introduce new vulnerabilities.

Which of the following is the developer performing when testing the application?

A. Design review

B. Gray box testing

C. Black box testing

D. White box testing

Answer: B

Explanation:

Section: Threats and Vulnerabilities

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

In this question, we know the tester has some knowledge of the application because the tester developed a plug-in module for it. However, the tester does not have detailed information about the entire application.

Therefore, this is a grey-box test.

Gray box testing, also called gray box analysis, is a strategy for software debugging in which the tester has limited knowledge of the internal details of the program. A gray box is a device, program or system whose workings are partially understood.

Gray box testing can be contrasted with black box testing, a scenario in which the tester has no knowledge or access to the internal workings of a program, or white box testing, a scenario in which the internal particulars are fully known. Gray box testing is commonly used in penetration tests.

Gray box testing is considered to be non-intrusive and unbiased because it does not require that the tester have access to the source code. With respect to internal processes, gray box testing treats a program as a black box that must be analyzed from the outside. During a gray box test, the person may know how the system components interact but not have detailed knowledge about internal program functions and operation. A clear distinction exists between the developer and the tester, thereby minimizing the risk of personnel conflicts.
