You are developing a RESTful API that uses ASP.NET Core. You plan to host the API in Azure App Services. You provision a development environment in the application service.

Developers must be able to deploy the API to the development environment. You must not share the Azure account credentials with developers.

You need to ensure that developers can deploy the API to the development environment.

Solution: Download the Publish profile for the application service and share it with the developers. Use Microsoft Visual Studio Publishing.

Does the solution meet the goal?

A. Yes

B. No

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

To configure deployment for a web project in Visual Studio, you create one or more publish profiles using the Publish Web wizard. A publish profile specifies the server you are deploying to, the credentials needed to log on to the server, the databases to deploy, and other deployment options. When you are ready to publish, you choose the profile you want to use and click the Publish button in the wizard or in the Web One Click Publish toolbar.
