NEW QUESTION: 1

While performing ping scans into a target network you get a frantic call from the organization's security team. They report that they are under a denial of service attack. When you stop your scan, the smurf attack event stops showing up on the organization's IDS monitor. How can you modify your scan to prevent triggering this event in the IDS?

- A. Scan more slowly.
- B. Do not scan the broadcast IP.
- C. Only scan the Windows systems.
- D. Spoof the source IP address.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Scanning the broadcast address makes the scan target all IP addresses on that subnet at the same time.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

The best is to use the inbuilt service from Cloudwatch, as Cloud watch Events to automate the creation of CBS Snapshots. With Option A, you would be restricted to running the powershell script on Windows machines and maintaining the script itself And then you have the overhead of having a separate instance just to run that script.

When you go to Cloudwatch events, you can use the Target as EC2 CreateSnapshot API call as shown below.

Create rules to invoke Targets based on Events happening in your AWS environment.

The AWS Documentation mentions

Amazon Cloud Watch Cvents delivers a near real-time stream of system events that describe changes in Amazon Web Services (AWS) resources. Using simple rules that you can quickly set up, you can match events and route them to one or more target functions or streams.

Cloud Watch Cvents becomes aware of operational changes as they occur. Cloud Watch Cvents responds to these operational changes and takes corrective action as necessary, by sending messages to respond to the environment, activating functions, making changes, and capturing state information.
