- B. The Transport layer sets up communication between computer systems, while the Session layer sets up connections between applications.
- C. The Transport layer sets up communication between applications, while the Session layer sets up connections between computer systems.

D. The Session layer sets up communication between protocols, while the Transport layer sets up connections between computer systems.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

The transport layer provides host-to-host (for example, computer-to-computer) communication services.

The session layer provides the mechanism for opening, closing and managing a session between end-user application processes.

Incorrect Answers:

A: The session layer sets up communication between applications, not between protocols.

C: The session layer sets up communication between applications, not between computer systems.

The transport layer provides host-to-host communication services, not protocol-to-protocol services.

D: The session layers sets up communication between applications, while the Transport layer sets up connections between computer systems. Not vice versa.
