NEW QUESTION: 1

DRAG DROP

You are developing an application that includes a class named Warehouse. The Warehouse class includes a static property named Inventory- The Warehouse class is defined by the following code segment. (Line numbers are included for reference only.)

You have the following requirements:

- * Initialize the `_inventory` field to an Inventory instance.
- * Initialize the `_inventory` field only once.
- * Ensure that the application code acquires a lock only when the `_inventory` object must be instantiated.

You need to meet the requirements.

Which three code segments should you insert in sequence at line 09? (To answer, move the appropriate code segments from the list of code segments to the answer area and arrange them in the correct order.)

Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation:

After taking a lock you must check once again the `_inventory` field to be sure that other threads didn't instantiated it in the meantime.

First, you check if the inventory is null, if so, you lock it to avoid other threads to change it.

Second, you check again for the null, as in the tiny millisecond between check for null and locking could another thread get it.

Finally you create the instance and release the lock.

- C. Option A
- D. Option B

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation

This is given as a best practice in the AWS documentation AWS CloudTrail tracks anyone making AWS Cloud Formation API calls in your AWS account. API calls are logged whenever anyone uses the AWS Cloud Formation API, the AWS Cloud Formation console, a back-end console, or AWS CloudFormation AWS CLI commands.

Enable logging and specify an Amazon S3 bucket to store the logs. That way, if you ever need to, you can audit who made what AWS CloudFormation call in your account For more information on the best practises, please visit the below URL:

Answer: D

Explanation:

Ascertain whether the breach may have resulted in loss or unlawful processing of personal data: Correct. The very first thing that needs to be done is ascertain that the security incident is in fact a personal data breach. (Literature: A, Chapter 5) Assess the risk of adverse effects to the data subjects using a data protection impact assessment (DPIA): Incorrect. A DPIA is conducted when designing personal data processing operations. It is not a part of the procedure for a data breach.

Assess whether personal data of a sensitive nature has or may have been unlawfully processed. Incorrect. This is the next step if the incident proves to be a personal data breach - ascertain what type of data breach.

Report the breach immediately to all data subjects and the relevant supervisory authority. Incorrect. Whether the data breach needs to be reported and to whom depends on whether it is a data breach and if so, the type of data breach.
