Explanation:

Answer option B is correct.

Project scope management consists of the processes required to ensure that the project contains all the work required to complete the project effectively.

Project Scope Management is one of the nine Project Management Knowledge areas. It is a group of the following processes required to ensure that the project includes all the work required, and only the work required, to complete the project:
Collect Requirements

Define Scope

Create Work Breakdown Structure (WBS)

Verify Scope

Control Scope

The term "Scope" may refer to product scope or project scope. Project Scope Management includes the processes required to ensure that the project includes all the work required, and only the work required, to complete the project successfully. Project Scope Management is primarily concerned with defining and controlling what is and is not included in the project. Answer option A is incorrect. Risk management is a continuous process. The process from the threats to risks and then finally to security measures is known as risk management. In this process, the risks are first identified, then examined, and then finally reduced to an acceptable level. The process is applied to all aspects of the operational processes.

Answer option C is incorrect. Project Communications Management is one of the nine Knowledge Areas. It employs the processes required to ensure timely and appropriate generation, collection, distribution, storage, retrieval, and ultimate disposition of project information. The following processes are part of Project Communications Management:

Identify Stakeholders

Plan Communications

Distribute Information

Manage Stakeholder Expectations

Report Performance

The Project Communications Management processes provide the critical links among people and information that are necessary for successful communication. These processes interact with each other and with the processes in the other Knowledge Areas as well.

Answer option D is incorrect. Project Human Resource Management is one of the nine Knowledge Area groups. It includes the processes that organize and manage the project team. The project team is comprised of the people who have assigned roles and responsibilities for completing the project. Project Human Resource Management is a group of the following processes required to make the most effective use of the people involved with the project:

Develop Human Resource Plan

Acquire Project Team

Develop Project Team

Manage Project Team

The project management team is a subset of the project team and is responsible for project management activities such as planning, controlling, and closing. This group can be called the core, executive, or leadership team.

With CloudTrail, you can log, continuously monitor, and retain events related to API calls across your AWS infrastructure. CloudTrail provides a history of AWS API calls for your account including API calls made through the AWS Management Console, AWS SDKs, command line tools, and other AWS services.
